

Tyr Alomere Tower

The tower is the present home of Madeleine Eyraux, a mighty enchantress, and her husband. The grounds include a cottage where the staff live, and a barn where visitors can stable their mounts.

The metal handholds lead to a tiny room at the top of the turret, where luminescent crystals shed bright light through three windows, lighting up the top of the tower like a lighthouse. These windows can be shuttered when darkness is preferred, to study the stars or to hide from airborne attackers at night. A locked metal door provides access to the turret's roof.
